

first Idea was to have it wrap around the user. like a masive white board the user can use.

Refinement: - hard to write in air
- look silly in social settings - very inclosed and hard to make changes

Now the user can put their document on a surface and use a stylus to make changes